

Cookies Policy

What are cookies?

As is common practice with almost all professional websites, this site uses cookies, which are tiny files that are downloaded to your computer to improve your experience.

Here, you'll find what information they gather, how we use it and why we sometimes need to store these cookies. We will also share how you can prevent these cookies from being stored, however, this may downgrade or 'break' certain elements of the website's functionality and alter your user experience.

How we use cookies

We use cookies for a variety of reasons, including helping us to ascertain the number of visitors to our website and where they have come from.

In some special cases we use cookies provided by trusted third parties. For example, this website uses Google Analytics. It is one of the most widespread and trusted analytics solutions on the web for helping us to understand how you use the site and to better your experience. These cookies may track, for example, how long you spend on the site and the web pages that you visit so we can continue to produce engaging content.

For more information on Google Analytics cookies, see the official Google Analytics webpage.

Disabling cookies

Unfortunately, in most cases there are no industry standard options for disabling cookies without completely disabling the functionality and features they add to this site. It is recommended that you leave on all cookies if you are not sure whether you need them in case, they are used to provide a service that you use.

If you would like to proceed, you can prevent the setting of cookies by adjusting the settings on your browser (see your browser help button for how to do this).

Further information

General information on cookies can be found on the About Cookies website.

If you're interested in finding out how we collect, store, and use personal data, please read our privacy notice.